

TEGO TEXI TECTUM

WHERE THE IMPOSSIBLE BECOMES POSSIBLE

New kid on the block? Think again...

Tego Texi Tectum, exhibiting at Milipol this year, may seem like a new company to the body armor and mobile security industry. However, a closer look will reveal that this new player is backed by a solid history in the industry.

New name to a familiar face

Tego Texi Tectum is the new security and military division of body armor and mobile security manufacturer and supplier, Mushriqui Consulting. The official launch is here at Milipol.

Mushriqui Consulting has been an active player in the body armor and mobile security industry for more than five years, with market shares as high as 90 per cent of the body armor industry sales.

The company has built on its experience in the industry to launch a new, more specialized division.

The name of the new division, Tego Texi Tectum, is inspired by a Latin phrase meaning to cover, protect and shield. As a provider of proprietary integrated solutions of protective equipment and mobile security for civilian and military clients, the company has found that this name portrays, simply yet effectively, its mission to protect and shield its clients against the threats of operating in high risk environments.

The launch of Tego Texi Tectum comes with a motto that company management has believed in all along: "where the impossible becomes possible." The motto is truly a depiction of how seriously the company takes its clients' needs and meeting those needs.

The transition also portrays the company's development over the past five years. John Mushriqui, one of the founder members of the company, says: "As we become more and more involved with the needs of our clients, we become more involved in the R&D process as well.

"This constant dialogue between our clients and our suppliers has allowed for the development of our R&D capabilities and continues to help us provide tailored solutions to our clients. As Tego Texi Tectum will have an added focus of R&D and introducing new solutions into the market, clients and suppliers will have the added benefit of partnering with a company that not only has a solid history, but is also on the cutting edge of developments in the industry."

Milipol 2009

Tego Texi Tectum is exhibiting on Stand 1 3D 024. Several special events have been planned, including an informal 'meet and greet' to give members of industry and government the opportunity to mingle.

Flyers will be circulated throughout the exhibition or stop by at the booth for additional details.

More on Mushriqui Consulting and Tego Texi Tectum

Mushriqui Consulting, now doing business in the security and military market as Tego Texi Tectum, has a research and development team that works together in synergy with a sales team that protects all six continents.

R&D is the main driver for the new division of Mushriqui, as it complements a diversified sales team.

Such a diverse sales team is a great asset to the company, allowing employees to understand clients regardless of differing languages or needs and to relay those needs to the R&D team, to fulfil the areas where the market is lacking.

The company is based in the US and headquartered in the outskirts of Philadelphia. However, the company does business with a strong network of partners throughout North America, Europe, South America, Africa and the Middle East.

Beyond its success in the international markets, corporate responsibility is a key component of how the company does business and its operating strategies. Both Mushriqui Consulting and Tego Texi Tectum take pride in conducting their business with a diversified vision, taking into account their customers, employees, investors, and the environment and communities in which they operate.
